Rainfall Totals 11.36 Inches for Hamlin in 1949

Driving rains of last week, accompanied by high winds and a scattering of hail, brought the year's total precipitation to 11.36 inches, according to Bill Rountree, city water superintendent.

And with the high average of precipitation, Hamlin's city water supply gained more than 200,000,000 gallons, according to estimates of the city water department.

Last year at the end of the second week in May, the city lake was estimated to contain 250,000,000 gallons of water. The lake now holds approximately 450,000,000 gallons, it is estimated.

Driving rains of last week end raised the level of the lake by 17 inches, the highest the water has stood for more than two years.

Rountree this week pointed out an error that has been carried in the Herald's recent stories on rainfall. The error was in error approximately .01 inch total for the month of May. The paper for publication. They are as follows:

January 3.69; February 1.57; March .60; April 3.46; and May including Sunday, May 8, 2.04, for a total of 11.36 for the year.

The rain last Saturday was accompanied by high winds and a black cloud that brought uneasiness to hundreds of Hamlinites as they stood in the streets watching the funnel-shaped clouds in the east. No damage was reported.

Oil on Waters Will Put End to Mosquitoes

Covering the surface of standing pools of water with kerosene will kill all mosquito larvae in the puddles, city officials said this week in urging a concerted drive here against the disease-carrying insects.

The City of Hamlin will look after all public property and see that every ditch in which water is standing is sprayed—if it is on city property.

Property owners and tenants are requested to take care of all open ditches or sink holes, that have caught water, on or near their premises. Now is the time to act to keep own swarms of mosquitoes later, it was pointed out.

Legion Leader Was Speaker at Lions Meeting

Sid Lowrey of Lubbock, district representative for the American Legion, was guest speaker at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Lions Club.

Lowrey, who is making a tour of towns and cities in the western part of the state, was introduced by Joe Culbertson, commander of the Hamlin Legion post.

He urged veterans of recent wars to join some organization and to work together for greater benefits for ex-service men, and especially those who are disabled.

Lowrey said there is only one bed in veteran's hospitals for each prospective 550 men who were in uniform. He said there are only 400,000 beds in veterans' hospitals in the United States.

The speaker denounced recent attempts by congress to cut appropriations that had been asked for veterans' care, and urged members of the VFW and Legion to write their representatives in congress and protest the cut.

He said the problems will be discussed more fully at a district Legion convention slated for Sweetwater May 28 and 29.

Dr. E. J. Hawkins, who will take over operation of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Sunday, May 15, was introduced to the Lions.

A. G. Irwin, who attended the district Lions convention in Mineral Wells, gave a brief report of the session.

Lion President Stanley Carmichael appointed a committee to work out plans for buying street markers and see to their erection. Members of the committee are Roy J. Curtis, Bill Shira and Fred B. Moore Jr. He also appointed a committee to arrange for putting up some road signs on highways leading into Hamlin. Members of that committee are Jim H. King, Junior Haight and Garland Preston.

H-SU Instructor to Be Baptist Speaker

W. C. Ribble, of the Hardin-Simmons University faculty, and district leader of the Royal Ambassadors, was slated to be guest speaker at the Thursday evening meeting of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church.

F&M Doubles Its Capital Structure

Stockholders Vote First Increase in Capital Structure in Over 30 Years

Stockholders of the Farmers & Merchants National Bank of Hamlin, in a special called meeting Wednesday, voted the first increase in capital structure of the institution in more than 30 years, according to Tate May, president.

The capital stock of the bank was increased 100 per cent from $40,000 to $80,000. The increase was voted in the paying of 100 per cent dividends on existing stock and by reducing the surplus account $20,000 and the undivided profits account $20,000.

The new capital structure calls for $80,000 capital, $60,000 surplus and $30,000 undivided profits, May said.

The stockholders meeting was held at the same time of the monthly directors meeting.

The bank was capitalized at $25,000 when it was organized early in the century. The first increase in capital structure came when J. W. Ezell went into the institution. The stock at that time was increased to $40,000.

The doubling of the bank's capital structure will enable the institution to handle larger transactions in loans and discounts, and will let the local firm take care of business that formerly was forced to go elsewhere.

Coates and Terrell Wells Come in For Producers; No Tests Yet Made

Completion for producers was made on two wells in the Hamlin area during the past few days, it was reported Wednesday. No official gauges had been run on the wells prior to Wednesday, but drillstem tests showed up good.

The Ellis A. Hall, well on the Terrell tract, a west extension to the Round Top field, set pipe at 5,040 feet in a structure that was not immediately identified. The production was picked up below the reef formation.

Sohio, Coates No. 1, found production in the reef at 4,740 feet and was setting pipe for completion Tuesday night. A drillstem test was run and production possibilities were said to be good.

The Ellis A. Hall, H. A. Poe No. 5, was drilling at 1,900 feet Tuesday in proven territory. The well will try for production in the reef. Permit was for 5,000 feet.

Pipers Cop Title; Down Rotan 16-0

Hamlin Shut Out Rotan With Score of 16-0 Wednesday; Pipers to Play Regional

Hamlin's Pied Pipers, undefeated in district baseball competition during the past season, shut out the Rotan Yellowhammers, winners of the western half, in a game on the Piper diamond Wednesday by a score of 16 to 0, to take the district 6-A championship.

The Pipers will represent the district in Region 2 play in a single-elimination tournament. The date and place of the tournament have not yet been selected, but it is probable that it will be held in Abilene sometime next week.

J. B. May, stellar hurler for the Pipers, was on the mound for the first four innings of the 7-inning game. He allowed only one hit, and walked one man—the only Yellowhammer to be issued a free base. J. W. Carter took over pitching duties in the fifth and for two innings allowed only two hits. Joe Allen Dean pitched for the last inning and gave up no hits to the visitors. The Hamlin hurlers yielded only three hits to the Rotan men.

Kenneth Clark occupied the mound for the Yellowhammers during the entire game. He gave up 13 hits to the Pipers and two bases on balls.

Rotan was charged with six errors, to only one for the Pipers. Only one Rotan player got past second base, and that was attributed to Hamlin's lone error.

Two double plays featured the Pipers' triumph. The first was from Ford to Townsend to LaBaume, and the second was from Dean to Rowland.

Clifton Townsend, who has led the Piper squad in hitting during the season, poled out three hits in five times at bat. He got one long triple during the contest.

The Pipers, already winners of the east half title, completed their sectional schedule last Friday when they downed the Merkel Badgers 11-0 in a game at Merkel.

Coach Truman Nix said Thursday that names of the teams who will compete in the regional play have not been announced.

Planning Board Talks Program For City Youth

A round table discussion of plans for a youth recreation program in Hamlin featured the second meeting of the Hamlin Civic Planning Board, in the Johnson Drive Inn cafe Monday evening.

New members who attended the meeting were: Mrs. Tom Teague of the Hamlin Garden Club, Mrs. Jim Thompson of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hamlin Fire Department, Mrs. J. C. Bryant representing Beta Sigma Phi sorority, and Joe Culbertson, representing the American Legion.

Chairman I. R. Huchingson read a proposed statement of purpose, which will serve as a constitution for the board. The statement was referred to a committee for revision, after which it will be presented again to the board. Members of the committee are J. C. Turner, Mrs. Brad Rowland and Clyde Huff.

It was voted to ask the city council if some art children could be worked out to provide members of the fire department with the minimum of city water without expense to the firemen. Clyde Huff was appointed to ask the council about the matter.

The board voted to continue holding supper meetings on the second Monday evening of each month, with each organization represented paying the expense for its representative.

Reception Set for Hawkins Family

Public Is Invited to Meet New Hospital Head And Family in School Cafeteria Sunday

Plans for a public reception for Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Hawkins were announced Thursday by members of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Board.

The reception for the new head of the local hospital will take place in the High School cafeteria Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 p.m., according to W. L. Fletcher Jr., chairman of the board.

Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins and their two small children will be presented to the public during the reception and Hamlin people will have an opportunity to get acquainted with the family.

Decorations will be furnished by the Hamlin Garden Club, and the refreshments will be provided by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

The board issued a statement Thursday in which it said:

"It is with real satisfaction and genuine pleasure that we introduce to the good people of Hamlin, and surrounding communities, Dr. E. J. Hawkins, who will assume operation of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Sunday, May 15.

"A lease contract has been signed by Dr. Hawkins, and the Board of Directors, whereby he will operate the hospital for a period of five years at a figure that will liquidate its indebtedness in about four years.

"In order that everybody might have an opportunity to know Dr. Hawkins, a reception will be held in the High School building Sunday afternoon, May 15, from three to five o'clock. This will be very informal, and we extend a most cordial invitation to come and meet our new doctor. We will be looking for you."

Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins are the parents of two children. A girl,

Lou Ann, is 3 years of age, and the boy, Jimmie, is one.

Mrs. Hawkins, the former Gable Smallwood, is the daughter of a West Texas Methodist minister, who now lives in Sweetwater. The Hawkins' were married in 1943.

Dr. Hawkins was reared near Sweetwater, where he graduated from high school in 1939. He received his B. S. degree from McMurry in 1942 and later graduated from the Baylor school of medicine in 1945. He served his internship in a Methodist hospital in Madison, Wis. At completion of his internship, Dr. Hawkins entered the army and served two years.

Following his release from service, he went to Roby, where he was in charge of the Fisher County hospital for one year. He came to Hamlin last week and will assume full charge of the local hospital Sunday.

Rotary Members Had Spelling Bee Contest

Memories of childhood school days were brought home to members of the Hamlin Rotary Club at noon Wednesday, when they engaged in an old-fashioned spelling bee at their weekly luncheon. Dr. Will C. House, pastor of the First Methodist Church, had charge of the spelling.

President Bill Terry appointed a committee to work with the Lions Club committee in arranging for the buying and installing of street markers, and for putting up house numbers in Hamlin. Members of the committee are Manny Johnson, Charles Gardner and Elmer C. Feagan.

WANTA PLAY SOFTBALL?

League for Summer Play Is Planned By School Coaches; Entries Sought

Plans for organizing a summer softball league for Hamlin were announced this week by Jesse Burditt, head coach of Hamlin High school, who will be assisted by Truman Nix, assistant coach.

The City Council has arranged for use of the city ball park during the summer months, Burditt said, and it is hoped that a schedule can be worked out to provide for three nights of softball play each week during June and July.

Burditt said Wednesday he is seeking entries from any Hamlin organization or group that wants to up a team, and from any outlying communities that will enter.

A small fee will be charged each team that enters the league. Funds from the fees will be used to purchase balls and other equipment, and to pay officials at the games. A small charge will be made for spectators, to help pay the expense of lights and other incidentals.

Burditt said he hopes to have a major league with six or eight entries: a girls' or women's league; a junior league for boys from 15 to 18 years of age, and a "kitten" league for younger boys.

Any firm or organization is eligible to form a team and enter it in the league, Burditt said, and he urged early action so the summer play can get started immediately.

Entries may be submitted either to Burditt or to Nix, who can be reached at the school.

WHY ALL THE FUSS?

It is difficult to understand why so much fuss is being made in Texas over the proposed usurpation of tidelands oil property by the federal government.

State officials have waxed eloquent in denouncing the "steal," and at the insistence of Governor Jester, a fund of $100,000 was appropriated from state money to wage a battle against the government's tidelands claim.

Those now so earnestly engaged in denouncing the pending action either are naive to the point of imbecility, or they are guilty of complete insincerity and have practiced fraud upon the voters of the state.

A scant seven months ago most of those who are holding up their hands in holy horror at the imminent action of Washington's bureaucracy, were making the ether waves ring with their fervent pleas to Texas voters to support the man who even then was breathing out threats about the tidelands.

And not only did the state leaders approve—whether tacitly or otherwise—the federal appropriation of tidelands, but voters in the state, by their ballots gave overwhelming approval to the program. Perhaps you will recall that 768,160 Texas ballots were cast for the man who told the people plainly that he would lead in the effort to take over the tidelands, while all other candidates for president were given a mere total of 395,978 ballots.

Last fall Texas Democrats approved the tidelands appropriation, and now they turn in outraged denunciation against the thing they supported so overwhelmingly only last November. Could it be in regard to Mr. Truman that Texas Democrats "loved him in November like they don't

WELCOME, DR. HAWKINS

The Hamlin Herald is glad to join in the chorus of voices raised in welcoming Dr. E. J. Hawkins to our little city.

Not a stranger here, Dr. Hawkins was born and reared almost within the shadow of our town, and he is known by many people. And most of those who know him best are loudest in their praise of the new physician, both as a doctor and as a man.

The Herald believes the Hospital Board made a wise selection when it chose Dr. Hawkins as operator of the local institution.

Hamlin is a growing town and it is always a pleasure to extend the glad hand of greeting to new people. Especially is it a pleasure to welcome to our community men who have dedicated their lives and their talents to the relief of suffering and sorrow.

We believe under the direction of Dr. Hawkins that the Hamlin Memorial Hospital will prosper and that those who invested their money in the venture such a short time ago, will in truth and in fact live to see the hospital become, as it was intended to be, a monument to those who so willingly gave their lives in the cause of freedom.

Again, we say, Welcome to Hamlin, Dr. Hawkins.

Do you wish to be free? Then above all things love God, love your neighbor, love one another, love the common weal; then you will have true liberty.—Savonarola.

Alaboy, Congress!

Proof of Taft-Hartley Law May Be Found in Analysis of Act, Peck Says

BY GEORGE PECK

Presently before the Senate is Bill S249, which if enacted will wipe out the Taft-Hartley law was enacted two years ago after lengthy, detailed hearings in response to widespread demands that a one-sided law be made two-sided.

Certain union labor leaders claimed that this law would kill unions. Have the unions met such a fate? The Bureau of Labor statistics demonstrate that since its enactment wages have gone up and there has actually been an increase in union memberships. And contrary to the dire predictions of labor leaders, no union member has been forced into involuntary servitude. The continued clamoring for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act on the part of union leaders, therefore, means that this legislation has shorn them of power, and they want that power back.

As a taxpayer and a citizen, whether you be employee or employer, union member or non-union, IF YOU BELIEVE that an employer and a union should not be free to deduct dues from a worker's pay without his consent;

IF YOU BELIEVE that workers should not be forced to engage in union activities;

IF YOU BELIEVE that Communists should not be allowed, without disclosure, to occupy positions of control in unions in interstate commerce;

IF YOU BELIEVE unions should be required to report on finances;

IF YOU BELIEVE a union should not be allowed to blockade a highway and engage in violence;

IF YOU BELIEVE that a union should be required to bargain in good faith as well as requiring the employer to do so;

IF YOU BELIEVE that a union should be held responsible for performance of contracts voluntarily entered into;

IF YOU BELIEVE that employers should not be free to force men to join a union in order to get a job;

IF YOU BELIEVE that employers are entitled to effective freedom of speech;

IF YOU BELIEVE that a foreman cannot serve two masters—the company and the union;

IF YOU BELIEVE independent unions are entitled to the same treatment by the Labor Relations Board as are affiliated unions.

IF YOU BELIEVE N.L.R.B. should not be prosecutor, judge and jury;

IF YOU BELIEVE complaints should not be issued on state charges, and that rules of evidence should prevail;

IF YOU BELIEVE the N.L.R.B. should not be permitted to decide cases against the preponderance of evidence;

IF YOU BELIEVE courts should have power where justified, to stop flagrant breaches of law and prevent irreparable harm;

IF YOU BELIEVE employer and employee should have equality under the law;

IF YOU BELIEVE the States should have the power to regulate their own labor affairs as the Supreme Court says they may;

IF YOU BELIEVE all these things, then, you do not want outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act by the enactment of S249.

And if you do not want S249 to become a law you had better get busy right quickly. Write your two United States Senators and Congressman to vote "NO" on the proposed legislation which would restore to the union labor bosses the power which they formerly enjoyed and abused, and which they are so eager to recapture.

"Get Acquainted With God," if You Want Serenity in Life, Peale Says

By Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

One of the most dramatic scenes in contemporary literature is a never-to-be-forgotten episode described by Winston Churchill in his classic narrative of World War II, "The Gathering Storm." In his own inimitable language Churchill describes the dark clouds brewing over the world. He draws an unforgettable picture of young Anthony Eden, old in events, writhing with the tide, lonely, slender. He describes how the dark waters of despair almost invaded the soul. Then in a remarkable passage he described that three o'clock conference in the deepest crisis of British history when he was given supreme power in the State.

He alone held the authority now, and he reports, "I went home to bed and slept soundly. I now had control over all the aspects of the situation." He implied that he knew how to handle the situation and that he was the only man in Britain who did. In a lesser man this would be egotism. In Churchill it was manifestation of authentic greatness. It is a memorable illustration of how, at the vortex of all clamoring and sinister confusion, a man knew how to overcome anxiety and live without tension.

To the most of us, however, this is not the case; we are the victims of tenseness, poor pathetic generation that we are. Men's lives today are being broken, shaken to pieces, their powers frustrated, simply because they do not know how to master anxiety to meet events without tension. A distinguished physician tells me that in one of the great hospitals in this country they have made an analysis of the effect of resentment, hate, guilt and tension upon people and in ninety-two per cent of the cases studied they found that tension was a very powerful factor.

In my book, "A Guide to Confident Living," I quoted two or three paragraphs from a statement made by Dr. M. A. Mortenson of Battle Creek Institute. They are so excellent that I quote them again here:

"American business and professional men are not living out the normal life expectancy. The tension and pressure of these troublous times, the pace of American life, the worry and uncertainty are working havoc among these men of forty and more. They are dying altogether to young! Heart disease, high blood pressure, arterial disease, nervous disorder, cancer, intestinal trouble, are the worst enemies of America's men of responsibility."

"We know how to control the germ-caused diseases such as typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, tuberculosis, but the degenerative diseases which come about because of the age of the individual plus wrong living habits, too much work, strain, stress, too little rest relaxation, are the troubles which are now mowing down so many of our valuable people, forty years of age and more. Fear, strain, overwork, under-rest, excess in sex, alcohol, wrong diet, overweight, all may bring your blood pressure to a dangerous height. Twenty-five per cent of all deaths of men over fifty years of age are due to hypertension."

Well, what is the remedy? Most sincerely I recommend that you take this prescription: Rest and prayer will bring the eternal God near and you will feel His guiding peace. He will lay His hand upon you as a mother places her hand upon the brow of a child, and the coolness of that touch has healing in it. Yes, that is what we all need, the great touch of God. And the way to have it is to "Get Acquainted With God." Then great good will come and anxiety and tension will be gone and you will live with greatness, power, joy, achievement and moreover you will have a deep, abiding and satisfying philosophy.

Commissioners Hold the Key to Roads Program

Success or failure of the $30,000,000 rural road program voted by the legislature depends to a degree on county commissioners. Representative Preston E. Smith of Lubbock said this week.

It is the commissioners' responsibility to survey their own area and determine whether each county's allocation should be spent for farm-to-market roads, Smith pointed out.

He added that when their study was completed, the commissioners should present their findings to the district highway engineer so that he can make recommendations to the state highway department.

"The quicker this work is done the better," Smith said. "We know that the funds are going to run out before the meritorious roads are built. The counties who first present their facts will be the ones to get the roads."

Farm-to-market roads will be placed on the basis of merit with respect to population and vehicle miles traveled, Smith said he had been informed by the highway department authorities.

It has been estimated that 25,000 miles of farm-to-market roads will be completed under the program, Smith said, "and when you divide that by the number of counties in Texas, it's not much mileage for each county."

The Lubbock representative called on county commissioners to carry out their part of the program, including the provision of right-of-way—to insure efficient and economical use of the money provided by the legislature.

"I have always been interested in the rural road program," Smith declared, "and I have worked for it ever since I have been in the legislature."

He said that while the appropriation of $30,000,000 for farm roads—the first of its kind—was inadequate to complete the desired rural network, "at least it is a start, and perhaps in the future more funds can be provided for this purpose."

Smith called for conscientious work on the part of all concerned in getting rural road construction under way.

A New Series of Puzzles to Test Your Wits

Rising Prices for Cotton Bolster Weak Spots in Southwest Markets

Despite numerous weak spots, southwest farm markets ruled mostly steady to strong during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reported.

Cotton scored advances of 50 cents to $3 a bale. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed Monday at 32.55 cents a pound at Dallas and 33.15 at New Orleans.

Most grains sold from 1 to 3 cents higher than a week ago, although corn declined slightly. No. 2 yellow milo closed Monday at $2.57 to $2.62 per hundred pounds at Texas common points. No. 1 wheat brought $2.36 to $2.43 a bushel. No. 2 white corn sold at $1.66 1-2 to $1.69 1-2 and yellow corn $1.55 1-2 to $1.55-1-2.

Rice found better export demand this week, but domestic trade was slow. Wet fields continued to delay planting. Wheat millfeeds led a general downward trend in feed prices. Rainy weather pastures and slowed demand for hay, but also hindered curing. Rain held up peanut planting in the southwest.

Butcher hogs netted gains of 25 to 50 cents for the week at Oklahoma City and Denver, and feeder pigs advanced around $1 in Texas and Oklahoma. Other swine saw little change. Top butcher hogs closed Monday at $18.25 at Texas markets, and $19.75 at Denver. Receipts fell off slightly. Pork sold weak to $3 lower.

Cattle sold unchanged to $1 higher at most markets, but Houston and San Antonio recorded losses up to $1 or more compared to a week earlier. Calves declined most at the south Texas markets. Medium and good slaughter calves sold Monday from $23 to $26 at San Antonio and Houston. Fort Worth paid $24 to $27 for good and choice. Last week's cattle receipts about equaled the week before, but calves increased in Texas. Steer beef sold weak to 50 cents lower for the week, and veal as much as $1 lower.

Much heavier marketings of lambs brought slightly lower prices in Texas, but sold steady to strong at other markets. Mutton sold unchanged from a week ago, but dressed old crop lamb fell $2 to $3. Fort Worth paid $28 to $30 Monday for good and choice spring lambs. Goats and kids declined about 50 cents at San Antonio.

Wool trade improved, and some adult Texas mohair sold at 37 cents a pound.

More liberal marketing of hens lowered prices this week. Light hens brought 22 to 25 cents a pound at Dallas, where heavy weights brought 26 to 30. Most sales fell within the same ranges at Denver and Fort Worth. New Orleans ranged up to 33 on lights and 36 on heavies. Eggs held mostly steady at around 40 cents a dozen.

Strawberry shipments increased from various Arkansas producing areas, and prices declined $3 or more per quart crate from a week ago. Weekend sales of U. S. No. 1 Blakemores ranged mostly from $5 to $7. South Texas harvest of carrots and onions drew toward a close, but corn and tomato shipments got into full swing. Corn and cucumbers sold at lower prices than a week ago. First offerings of New Mexico asparagus appeared at Fort Worth last week.

Dora Joyce Culbertson, a student at Denton, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Culbertson.

Aspermont Editor's Son Loses Fingers

Donnie Richards, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Richards of Aspermont, suffered a badly mangled hand, from which four fingers had to be amputated, in an accident in the shop of the Aspermont Star Saturday.

While Richards, father of the child, was doing some printing on a job press, the child stuck his hand into open gears on the machine.

The baby was taken to Stamford Sanitarium for treatment and where the fingers were amputated.

Cars Loaded in Area Down Over 7,000

Railroad cars loaded on two railroads in the midwest area for the week ending April 30, 1949, were almost 7,000 units less than the number loaded for the corresponding week of 1948.

A report issued by the Katy and Santa Fe roads revealed that 26,841 cars were loaded for the week ending April 30, 1949, as compared with 33,007 for the corresponding week of 1948.

Better Care of Feet Is Essential To Prevent Many Diseases of Body

Isn't it true that most of us pay very little attention to our feet—until they begin to hurt? Then suddenly we realize that our feet are very important to the enjoyment of work, play, and life generally.

As common as they are, most disabilities could be prevented with a little care and the observance of a few simple rules.

Proper care of the feet should begin in babyhood, especially when a child starts to walk. His very first pair of shoes should fit comfortably and give him the support he needs. The practice of getting good shoes that fit right and support the feet properly should be continued throughout life. It is poor economy to buy ill-fitting shoes, because it can mean great expense as well as pain, before "getting the feet back in shape" and often the damage can never be undone.

Feet should be bathed daily and those changed often. Changing shoes frequently also helps relieve fatigue and excessive perspiration of the feet.

Neglecting care of shoes and those can cause trouble. Run-over heels can throw the wearer off balance, place unnecessary strain on the feet and eventually cause faulty posture. Wrinkles in hose or shoe linings can cause friction or pressure that creates painful blisters.

Immediate attention should be given to cuts, blisters, or skin eruptions of the feet. Corns and callouses should be removed, but "home surgery" with a razor blade is dangerous. The chiropodist is better qualified to remove them safely and thoroughly.

Toenails should be cut straight

Memorial Hospital, where he had been getting treatment for a broken arm.

Mrs. E. M. Hicks will undergo an operation in the Callan Hospital in Rotan next week.

Many thanks are extended from Supt. S. L. Smith and the Senior Class to the people of the community for the nice support they gave to the Senior play, "Pigtails," last Friday night. A total of $82 was taken in for the play, and $55 for the pie auction. George Darden auctioned the pies. The money will be used for the Junior-Senior trip to Austin and San Antonio May 30.

across, not too short. Rounding the nails invites "ingrown toenail," the growth of the nail into the flesh.

Painful feet may mean "fallen arches," the serious misplacement of bones and muscles that serve as main supports of the foot and therefore of the body. You should go to your doctor at the first sign of painful arches. He can give you sound advice on your foot trouble or will refer you to a specialist for treatment of such conditions.

While swollen feet can come from continuous standing, or from walking in tight shoes, the condition can also be the sign of serious illness such as heart disease or kidney trouble. When feet swell painfully for no apparent reason, it is best to see a doctor at once.

Dangerous Adventure Befell Crew Of First Plan to Fly Atlantic

Just thirty years ago Sunday May 8, a flight of three Navy seaplanes started from Far Rockaway, Long Island, in an attempt to cross the Atlantic. Nineteen days after the takeoff, one plane landed in Lisbon, Portugal, the first plane to span the ocean by air.

The famed NC-4 flying boat was piloted by Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read, who with his four-man crew, braved the nearly 2,200 miles of open sea and weather on a pioneer flight which paved the way for future and faster crossings by plane over the same route.

The plane went on to land in Plymouth, England, completing a flight of 3,925 nautical miles, an amazing feat for those days of plywood and canvas planes. The hull of the NC-4 rests today in the National Air Museum section of the Smithsonian, a monument to her gallant crew.

Originally four planes had been planned to form a long-range reconnaissance squadron. Soon after they were completed, though, a fire and a gale had combined to rip the tail of NC-4 and a wing on NC-1 with the result that NC-2 was dismantled to furnish spares for the 1 and 4 planes.

Thus on May 2, 1919, when Seaplane Division One was commissioned it was a three-plane outfit, rather than the four originally planned. The planes were designated NC-1, 2, and 4—the "N" for Navy, "C" for Glenn Curtiss, builder of the planes.

Commanding Officer of the Division was Commander John P. Towers with Commander H. C. Richardson as co-pilot and the NC-3 as flagship.

Lieutenant-Commander P. N. L. Bellinger with Lieutenant Commander Mark A. Mitscher, took NC-1. Twenty-four years later, these two men (as Admirals) led Naval Carrier warfare to new heights during World War II in the Pacific. The third plane, the NC-4, was flown by Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read with Coast Guard Lieutenant Elmer Stone as co-pilot.

First assignment given to the Division was to cross the Atlantic and the date for starting was May 8. Division One was not the only group planning such a trip.

Three teams of British pilots were even then poised at St. Johns, Newfoundland for a crossing. Another crew was reported en route for Newfoundland, and other countries, with war-gained experience, were trans-Atlantic minded. Even the Navy's own lighter-than-air ship, the non-rigid C-3, under Lieutenant Commander Coil flew up to Newfoundland ready to make the Trans-Atlantic hop. A storm tore the C-3 from her moorings and wrecked her.

Sixty-eight destroyers were strung across the Atlantic and five battle-ships were also interspersed along the route. The ships were to make smoke by day, turn on searchlights at night, and the battleships were to act as weather stations. The planes were to keep in wireless communications with each ship in passing.

The planes carried a new bubble sextant, drift and speed indicators developed by Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd and C. B. Truscott as well as a course and distance indicator. The flights later proved these instruments to be considerably more reliable than the pilots thought they could be.

The three planes arrived safely in Newfoundland from Long Island, although NC-4 had to make a forced landing at sea off Cape Cod because of engine trouble. Five hours of taxiing brought the plane into the Naval Air Station at Chatham, Massachusetts, where she was repaired and flown on several days later.

All three planes were ready to begin the long leg of the journey on May 16. They all took off at 10 P. M. that night for the Azores Islands where they were to make a refueling stop.

The NC-4 was the first to arrive at Horta, Azores, after a more or less uneventful flight. The NC-1 and NC-3 planes were not so fortunate.

The No. 1 plane lost her bearings in the heavy weather, which all the planes were experiencing on the hop, finally made an open sea landing about 100 miles west of Flores, Azores. The sea was running much heavier than expected and the plane was damaged in landing, making further flight impossible even if a takeoff could have been managed through such high waves. The crew managed to keep the plane afloat, however, and five hours after landing the men were picked up by the Greek steamer Ionia.

An attempt was made to save the aircraft by towing it, but the tow line broke and the NC-1 plane sank. Meantime, NC-3 fared worst of all. She was landed in the open sea 45 miles southeast of Fayal, Azores, into waves running 12 feet high. She came down to get her bearings because of doubt about the bubble sextant. The landing damaged the hull, the controls, struts, and wings. She could not possibly take to the air again. Commander Towers and his crew of four were to endure untold hardships for the next 52 hours while drifting backward 205 miles in storm-churned seas.

The crew took turns at steering the plane as best they could while their shipmates attempted to sleep. When, the next day, part of the left under wing including the wing-float washed away, a member of the crew crawled out on the right wing to balance the plane. He clung in that position, constantly deluged by water.

The wireless apparatus was damaged to the extent that it could receive only and no message could be sent. Hence the exhausted and exasperated men knew that the destroyers were searching for them to the west instead of south of Flores, but could do nothing about it. The only drinking water soon remaining was the rusty radiator water from the engines. Scant supplies of chocolate bars and sandwiches were the fare. They improvised sails and sea anchors, and poured engine oil on the "troubled waters." They later reported the seas running as high as thirty feet.

Finally, however, they drifted near enough to land so that the engines could be started and the plane came into Ponta Delgada Harbor, on one of the Azores islands, under its own power. The NC-3 made port, but would never fly again.

The NC-4 which had landed in Horta harbor on one of the other islands flew over to Ponta Delgada to check up on the crew of the NC-3 after which it again took off to continue the flight to Europe.

On May 31 Lieutenant Commander Read and his crew landed in Plymouth, England, where thousands turned out to see the Lord Mayor of that city receive the first flight crew to cross the Atlantic. The ceremony was held at the slab commemorating the departure of the Pilgrims 300 years before.

This first Trans-Atlantic flight furnished the Navy and the world with valuable data on long-distance flying, on the possibility of wide reconnaissance by air, much was learned about communications and new aircraft instruments. Months of planning went into the operation which had been discussed by Navy officials since the close of World War I.

After being feted in the Azores, Portugal and England the crew of the NC-4, and the plane were brought home by ship to be received by Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels, his Under-Secretary, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and a grateful American public.

The NC-4 was soon launched on a good will flight to 3 cities along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts before she reached her final resting place in the Smithsonian Institution.

Former Chinese Missionary Spoke Here at Meeting of Baptist Womens Missionary Group

Miss Lois Glass, recently returned missionary to China, spoke at a meeting of members of the Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church Monday afternoon in the church building.

All units of the WMU, together with members of the Sunbeams, Junior Girls Auxiliary, Intermediate Girls Auxiliary, and the Royal Ambassadors, were present for the meeting.

Miss Glass recently was evacuated from China because of the Communist moving in and strangling mission work. She explained how the Communists gradually, but steadily choked out all Christian organizations.

However, she said, the Chinese Christians are strong enough to keep the faith alive despite the efforts of the Communists.

She described needs of the missions and the immediate need of all Chinese people.

Miss Glass is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Glass, recently retired foreign missionaries in China, and now living at Missionary Hill. She is a niece of Mrs. Etta Stephenson of Hamlin, and a cousin of Mrs. Virgil Steele of Celotex.

Special guests attending the speaking were members of the Celotex WMU.

Following the lecture the audience was invited to the basement of the church, where the Lois Glass circle of young married women served refreshments, consisting of cakes and punch.

These men were among the "lucky" ones. Tens of millions were driven from their homes in Europe and Asia in World War II. Millions died from planned starvation, overwork, or cold-blooded murder. Some millions of them—8,000,000 in Europe—survived. Most returned home, but the United Nations found nearly a million who could not or would not go "back." For these, IRO is now finding homes.

Summer Diseases Menace to Small Children, State Health Head Says

The summer season always brings an increase in the incidence of dysentery, diarrhea and enteritis, all of which are major menaces to the lives of small children, annually causing the deaths of hundreds of Texas youngsters.

The State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, declares that the chief cause of these intestinal diseases are contaminated milk, water or food; allowing the child to get overheated or exhausted; excessive sugar in the infant's formula, and foods that have been improperly refrigerated.

"All foods should be clean and fresh, and all left-overs should be refrigerated so as to avoid spoilage. The utmost care should be used in preparing the infant's formula which should of course, be prescribed by a physician, and his recommendations as to sanitation precautions and correct refrigeration should be implicitly followed.

The State Health Officer warned parents especially of the danger of disease transmission by flies. Children in any home that is not free from flies, are in danger of contracting dysentery or other intestinal diseases which may be fatal.

"If dysentery or diarrhea symptoms appear in your child, call your doctor immediately," Dr. Cox advises. "His treatment of the disease as your best insurance against fatal results, since such diseases are really a very serious threat to the child's life. Don't depend on home remedies for diarrhea or dysentery; consult a competent physician and let him institute the safest and best treatment which medical science has available, for combating these warning diseases."

Burleson Explains Vote on Wood Bill

Omar Burleson, congressman from the 17th District, explained his vote to recommit the Wood labor bill, in a letter to the Hamlin Herald this week.

The Wood bill, which had been introduced as a substitute for the administration labor bill, first passed the house by a narrow margin. It was sent back to the committee for further study by only a few votes majority. Burleson voted to recommit.

Burleson's letter was in reply to a telegram from The Herald. He said, in part:

"I voted against the Wood bill, which had been hastily amended on the floor to the point that no one could be sure of what it contained, but it supposedly liberalized the Taft-Hartley law. My next vote was to recommit the bill to the Committee, which leaves the Taft-Hartley law intact.

"My actions have all been pointed towards retaining the Taft-Hartley law, and I feel encouraged over it. In addition to my vote against the Wood Bill, I also opposed and voted against the administration's bill, which would have restored the old Wagner act with a number of amendments."

Funds Shortage May Bar Work on Cancer Control

Cancer control work in Texas during 1949-50 may be sharply curtailed and cancer education service, and research in the state seriously retarded unless more Texans are given an opportunity to contribute to the 1949 drive for funds of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society.

This statement was made this week by Karl Hohlitzelle, of Dallas, state campaign chairman for the American Cancer Society, when announcing the extension of the Society's April membership drive into May.

"We are still far short of our $450,000 goal," Hohlitzelle said, "and, unless our campaign workers are allowed more time to seek contributions, cancer control work in Texas will be sharply curtailed.

"Our carefully-budgeted program indicates that $450,000 is the minimum needed to advance the Texas fight against the nation's No. 2 killer, which this year probably will claim the lives of more than 7,000 Texans."

"Our cancer fight calls for funds to support research, professional education for doctors and nurses, information centers, and many other phases of cancer control, and funds are sorely needed to continue the work," the state campaign chairman said. "For this reason I am

Bigger 3 Ways... DODGE gives you extra value

WIDER on the inside... NARROWER outside!
There's extra value in the spread-out elbow room of the wide, wide seats. Yet the new Dodge is smaller on the outside... easy to park, easy to garage, easy to thread through crowded traffic.

LONGER on the inside... SHORTER outside!
The new leg room in Dodge gives extra value in stretch-out comfort. Doors open wide, too... let you get in and out easily without squirming or twisting—and without knocking your hat off, either.

HIGHER on the inside... LOWER outside!
More head room is another Dodge extra value you'll appreciate. Instead of low, slanting seats that force a cramped position, Dodge knee-level seats are actually higher for relaxing comfort, better vision.

If you want extra value, you'll want DODGE!
There's extra value in Dodge beauty that flows from true functional styling... in the design that provides more head room, more leg room, more elbow room, greater vision for all passengers.

LETTER TO THE SENIORS

After 12 long years you are ready to graduate from high school and go out into the larger world along the devious pathways that you might choose. Some of you will enroll in college, some of you will find immediate employment and take post graduate courses in that greatest of all universities, the School of Experience; while still others of you will establish homes and take your places immediately in the society that has been built up by another generation—and which will not accord you the welcome you think you deserve.

Next week—or the one following—will come that big moment you have awaited during the past years of hard effort in classes. During the next few days each of you will walk self-consciously across the stage and receive a diploma. It will attest only the fact that you have passed the first milestone on the road to life's preparation.

Many of you will sit uncomfortably, attired in cap and gown and pay polite attention to the boring words of various speakers, who will pour out platitudes that have become trite by constant repetition.

You will be feted and honored and congratulated during the next few days—and then you'll be promptly forgotten.

Many words of good advice will be given you—but you won't take them. It is human nature to ignore the experiences of others, and to want to explore and investigate for one's self. Some of the things you'll be told will be true, and many of them will be only partially true. It is for you—each of you—to determine for yourself the counsel you wish to heed, and to ignore the rest.

There are some who will tell you that the learning you have received will be a solid foundation upon which to base your lives. That statement is not true. Education is not a solid foundation, it is only one stone that goes into the construction of a foundation for your life.

With that education you must mix some character, a consciousness of your social obligations to others, and a deep and abiding respect for your God and for yourself. Then, and only then, will the foundation of your lives be solid.

It is true that you will need schooling. It is true that no man can acquire too much education, but it is also true that an educated mind without an accompanying character is not an asset, but a distinct liability to society.

Make of your education the cornerstone in the foundation of your life. But after you have placed the cornerstone, then build around it the many other stones needed for a balanced edifice.

It takes character and personality and culture and ambition as well as education to insure you that the weeks and months and years spent in class rooms shall not have been spent in vain.

Each senior that will receive a diploma this year will have a place in society—a place of usefulness and of service to his community. Each of you are sorely needed in a world that is wearied and worn from strife and shedding of blood.

It is your privilege and duty to find your proper place in the world, and then to contribute your part toward the making of a better world for those who soon will follow you.

The generation you will succeed has made a sorry mess of the world. Twice within the past generation has the face of the good earth been saturated with the blood of young men and women. Many times during the past quarter of a century has the present generation muffed its chances to create peace and order and happiness in this troubled old planet. And now, this generation is ready to drop the reins of events from its tired hands, and it is your responsibility to pick them up. It is your privilege to attempt to reshape the world and to recreate the thoughts of yourselves and your fellowmen into constructive channels, rather than channels of destruction.

The schooling you have received has been without much cost to you. But it was not a free gift. It has cost a tremendous price, and it is now your privilege to repay that cost. You will not be asked to repay it in dollars and cents, but you will be asked to repay it in the manner in which you live, and the type of service you render to your country. Don't permit that great cost to be dissipated by letting your lives and your talents go to waste.

Without doubt you will face many disappointments. You will be disappointed in the struggle for physical survival, and you will be disappointed when the illusions you have builded and tended so carefully begin to crumble and crash in the dust at your feet. You will be disappointed when you learn that the diploma you prize so much will not be an open sesame to the world.

It is even likely, that the world, itself, will be sorely disappointed in you, and it is probable that you will fail to attain the goals that have been set for you by doting friends.

But regardless of the disappointments you meet, and the discouragements that beset your pathway; regardless of the failures you make and the bitter moments of disillusionment you may know, always remember that there is no force under heaven that can defeat your purpose in life but yourself. There is no one who can determine your destiny but you, and until you have learned the art of self-mastery, no other education will be of much value regardless of the number of degrees that might attach to your name.

Go then into life. Go with the best wishes of your friends and the prayers of your loved ones. Go with the abiding sense that God will aid those who prepare themselves and trust Him. If you do this, all will be well with your future.

Work to Begin on McMurtry Student Building, May 24

Two significant events apart from the general activities of commencement week will be observed later this month at McMurtry College, with the ground-breaking ceremonies for the $600,000 student life center on May 24, and the Fifth Stamford College reunion on May 21.

Contract for the construction of the combined auditorium and student social and religious activities structure is to begin within a few days. The contract was awarded to the Rose Construction Co., of Abilene, with the David Vickers Co., of Sweetwater making the successful plumbing and heating bid. Galbraith Electric Co., will handle the electric installations. Some small sub-contracts are to be let in a few days.

The gift of Mrs. J. M. Radford, wife of a pioneer grocery wholesaler, as a memorial to her late husband, and to herself, will total approximately $50,000 for furnishings. The ground-breaking ceremonies will attract many notables in the Methodist church, and outstanding citizens of Texas, according to Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president.

The building will be located on the northeast corner of the campus south of a road, designated as Memorial drive, which will be cut from Sayles Boulevard across the campus north of the present dormitory and dining hall units. Its auditorium will seat approximately 1,500; will be divided into two sections, a social life center, housing game rooms, bowling alley, and other facilities; and a religious life chapel. The auditorium can be converted into a sanctuary quickly by means of rollaway steps and an altar backdrop on the stage.

The structure is the fourth major building to be constructed on the campus since 1946, Dr. Cooke pointed out. It will be topped by a tower 105 feet high, visible for many miles in each direction.

The reunion of the Stamford College exes will take place on May 21. It will be the first time such a gathering has been held on the McMurtry College campus. The Stamford school operated for several years prior to the First World War. The college records were transferred to McMurtry later, and it is considered one of the forerunners of the present institution. Wallace Hawkins, oil company executive of Dallas, is president of the Stamford group.

College Degree May Be Worth More Than $72,000, Educator Points Out

An analysis of the earning power of the average high school graduate, contrasted with earning ability of college graduates was given this week by the Amicable Life Insurance Co., according to Tate May, local agent.

The company credited Everett W. Lord, dean of College Business Administration of Boston University, with the research necessary to compile the information. It is said to be the first extensive investigation of the relation of education to earning capacity.

Lord's first investigation was of an untrained man with an elementary education. He is quoted as follows: "He goes to work as a boy of 14—reaches a maximum income at 40, on the average less than $1,700 a year."

"Since his income is largely dependent on physical strength and manual dexterity, it falls off at 50 or earlier, often to a point below the level of self-support. More than 50 out of every 100 untrained workers are dependent upon others for support after the age of 60."

"Total earnings for a man of this type, from 14 to 60, average about $64,000. About $2,000 may be earned by him in the four years that would have given him a high school education."

The second example cited by Lord, was the high school graduate. He said, "He goes to work at 18, passes the maximum of the untrained within 10 years. He rises steadily to his own maximum of approximately $2,800 at 50, and falls off little thereafter."

"His total earnings from 18 to 60 are about $88,000. The $24,000 more than that earned by the untrained man represents the cash value of high school—$6,000 for each of the four years of the course."

Lord's third example contrasts greatly with the other two in earning power. He is the man who completed college or technical school. Lord said, "His permanent earnings begin at 22, although a considerable amount may be earned during the college course. By the time he is 30 his income equals that of the high school graduate at 40, and it continues to rise, practically without a break."

"Since his income is dependent upon his mental ability and train-

Average Age of 1949 Hamlin Graduates, 18

Graduates of Hamlin High School this year represent ages from 16 to 20 years, a survey made by The Herald last week revealed. However the average age of the 1949 seniors was 18 years.

The class is composed of 55 members, which represents an average number for the past several years. The largest class in Hamlin High School was in 1940, when 80 members received diplomas.

ng, constantly improved by practice, it increases instead of diminishes each year. The graduate with the A. B. degree averages $6,000 at 60. The graduate of commerce or business administration averages $8,500 at 60.

"Total earnings of college trained men from 22 to 60, average $160,000 to $200,000. This does not include anything earned during the college period. The $72,000 more than that earned by the high school graduate represents the cash value of college training—an average of $18,000 each year for the four years spent in college."

Dr. Wiggins to Take Office as Tech President

Dr. D. M. Wiggins becomes the fifth president of Texas Technological college, Tuesday, May 10.

Formal installation ceremonies are to be conducted at Jones Stadium, on the campus, in the evening following a full day of honors and courtesies for Dr. and Mrs. Wiggins.

Forerunning the evening program is to be a luncheon meeting honoring Dr. and Mrs. Wiggins and attending as special guests will be the board of directors membership, and the visiting delegates. Dr. William H. Cowley, professor of education from Stanford university is to be the featured speaker.

Dr. Doak S. Campbell, president of Florida State university, will make the inaugural address, and Charles Thompson of Colorado City, Texas, chairman of the college board of directors, will conduct the investiture service.

When Dr. Wiggins came to Texas Tech in September, he took over the leadership of a student body which numbers almost 6,000. The first president, the late Dr. Paul Whitfield Horn was over a student group numbering over 1,000, principally from west Texas, who came that opening year of 1925.

In the brief 23 years of the college's life, punctuated by war years which controlled much planned expansion, the college has accomplished much by way of improving both academic offerings and the plant facilities.

Under the few months guidance by Dr. Wiggins thus far some 48 new courses have been added already to the regular curriculum to be offered for the first time next year, 1949-50. Also a 10-year master building program involving an expenditure of $4,000,000, has been approved, and acquisition of Pan-Tech ordnance plant as part of Texas Tech has been realized.

Dr. Wiggins, a long time resident of West Texas, went while a young boy to Canadian, where his parents established a permanent residence. He was graduated from Goodnight college in 1917, and went immediately to Burk Burnett high school as principal and coach. After military service, he re-entered college this time going to Hardin-Simmons university where he took a bachelor of arts degree and was appointed principal and coach of Vernon high school.

In 1920, he was graduated from arts degree, and in 1930, received his Ph. D. degree. In June, 1943, Hardin-Simmons university conferred on him an LL. D. degree.

Eight Out of Nine Members of Senior Class at Sylvester To Attend College

Out of nine seniors who will graduate from Sylvester High School this year, eight of them plan to attend college and continue their education, according to a survey made by The Herald last week.

However, only two of the number plan to attend regular colleges or universities offering academic courses. One of the eight is undecided where to attend college, and five are planning to attend business colleges.

An unusually high percentage of the Sylvester graduates are members of a church. Seven of the nine claim church membership. And of the number, only two churches are represented. The Church of Christ claims two members of the class and five are members of the Baptist church.

Pump Failure Leaves Tech Students 'Dirty'

Shaving, teeth brushing and even sock-washing are viewed by campus residents of Texas Technological College as privileges of unheralded glory!

This new halo around tasks for the most part considered "tedious and bothersome", comes from two days of "no water" on the campus.

Without warning Monday morning the faucets produced their last. A hasty check revealed the pump on the largest of the three college wells supplying all water needs was not functioning.

The two auxiliary wells failed while necessary repairs were being made on the main pump. Results were only a slight drip from the ground-level faucets. On Wednesday night water returned to a dry, beginning-to-be-dary and definitely thirsty student group after the college system was linked with the city supply.

Brimming bath tubs, busy washing machines and full clotheslines in the dormitory laundries have been promoted in two days to the campus' favorite "sporting fields."

WIGGINS TO SPEAK.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological College, will make the commencement address May 31 at Schreiner Institute, Kerrville.

Feeding Experiment Underway at Lubbock

Ten hereford steers with an average weight of 673 pounds, directly from dry lot feeding, were turned on irrigated pasture at Texas Technological College range May 2 to begin the final year of a grazing experiment.

W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture and director of the feeding test, said the steers, picked at random in November from the calf crop at Pan-Tex where they were bred on the college lease, gained 1.5 pounds average per day in winter feeding. The steers weighed 417 pounds average when brought to Texas Tech in November. They were fed in dry lot a mixture of sorghum silage according to appetite.

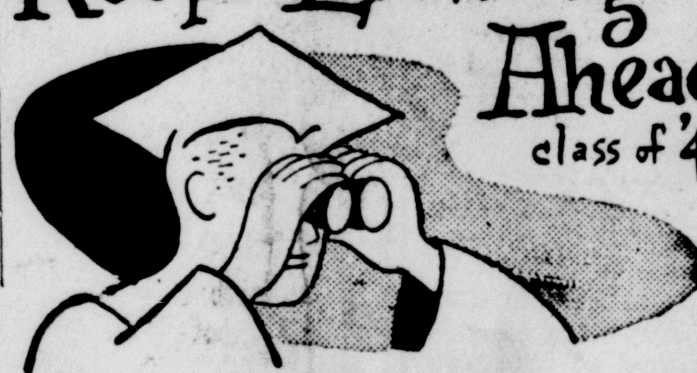

The irrigated plots used in the tests which started in 1947-48 are alfalfa, alfalfa and brome grass, alfalfa, perennial rye grass and alfalfa, brome and perennial rye grass. During the final phase, two and a half animal units per acre will be grazed. Previously the ratio has been two units per acre in 1947-48, and three units per acre in 1948-49.

Comparative results from the three tests will be published by the agriculture division at the end of the grazing period.

But I want a telephone—not a cable.

Telephones and telephone cables go together. You talk into the telephone—but it's the cable that carries your voice.

If you are waiting for a telephone you may wonder why we don't connect it to a telephone cable already near your home.

The answer usually is: That cable is carrying a full load right now.

It would be handy if we could hang out an "SRO" sign like a theater—"Standing Room Only"—and connect a lot of extra telephones to these full-up cables.

But cables aren't like that. When they're working 100 per cent—when every wire in them is already connected—there just isn't any more room, standing room or anything else.

So... to bring service to you and to others waiting, we must place more cables. That gives us extra wires. Then we can connect new telephones.

That's what we're doing, getting more cables in place, and faster than ever before. A million miles of cable wire this year alone. All so that we can get telephones to those waiting just as soon as we can, and to make all service better than before.
